

To The Limit

COMPETITION SHOW

A hilarious game show in which challengers' limits are tested game after game.

To the Limit is high stakes, competition show where contestants, are given a chance to select the level of difficulty for each game, as the next rounds get continuously harder and harder, pushing the players to the limit.

A challenge to the limit of what is possible! On every show, a three-person group of comedians (with one host) tests the limits on various activities that no one has ever imagined. The games are a cavalcade of ludicrous and laughter-inducing challenges, such as "How many candles can be blown out at once?" and "How short can the bar of the high jump be?"
